

PitchIt!

The News Literacy Student Essay Contest

May 2022

Student voice is a catalyst for positive change in schools and communities.

For this reason, Miami-Dade County Public Schools, in partnership with the News Literacy Project, is hosting a writing contest to empower students to be civically informed and engaged.

Learning Task and Essay Topic

News literacy is the ability to determine the credibility of news and other content. Think about a widely reported current event and how news literacy skills could have been applied.

Now, write a 500-1000 word article about a local, national or international story where having news literacy skills would have prevented misinformation from being spread. Use reputable sources to support your claim. Articles will be judged by a panel of journalists for accuracy, readability and creativity. Choose a prompt from the list.

Eligibility

Only students in grades 6-8, and 9-12 may participate with the support from a teacher.

CONTEST DEADLINE
May 13, 2022,
5 p.m. ET

To Enter

Schools/teachers should submit their top three winning essays per grade with cover letter via email to:

Monica Valdes, Miami news literacy ambassador, mdvaldes@dadeschools.net

Prompts

- The First Amendment has five freedoms, and in many ways they are dependent on one another. Explain how other freedoms of the First Amendment are required to protect the freedom of the press.
- What steps should someone take to fact-check false statements by a well-known figure and what problems might arise as a result?
- People have responsibilities – things that they should do but are not required to by law. Why would providing reliable information be a responsibility?
- Imagine you heard a rumor about public figure, but you're not sure if it is true or not. What are the potential consequences if you share it online?

AWARDS

for each grade band 6-8, and 9-12

GRAND PRIZE

$100 Amazon gift card (teacher and student)

FIRST PLACE

$75 Amazon gift card (teacher and student)

Consult the complete contest rules and student tips before entering.

Teaching and Learning Goals

- Teachers have an authentic and engaging writing assignment that amplifies student voices and explores issues aligned to district curricula, standards and required topics, such as the First Amendment.
- Students analyze different types of misinformation and show the ability to think critically about what is and is not verifiable information.
- Students apply their news and media literacy skills to solve the misinformation problem.
- Finalists receive real-time feedback from journalists in the field who report on these issues every day.

Process

Step 1. Teacher introduces the writing assignment to students and the process by which the top essays will advance. News literacy topics are explored with students as they relate to the curriculum.

Explore the free educator resources on NewsLit Nation or the Checkology® virtual classroom on topics like the First Amendment. See resources from the NLP, M-DCPS library, which includes access to The New York Times, articles on ProQuest, or any other available sources.

Step 2. Ask students to pick one of the prompts on the previous page to write about.

Step 3. Encourage students to review the article formatting requirements before submitting their essays to you.

Step 4. Teachers select up to three student essays per grade, per school, and submit.

Step 5. NLP's educator panel selects six essays per grade band (6-8 and 9-12), to advance to the finalist stage.

Step 6. All finalists pitch their stories to a panel of journalists during the PitchIt! Grand Prize event on Zoom and receive personalized feedback and a certificate. Panelists choose the winners, who receive prizes awarded during the event.
